Three Bridges Primary School Relationship and Sex Education (RSE) Policy

Introduction

At Three Bridges Primary School we believe that RSE is an essential part of a child's education, in preparing them for a future as confident individuals with the knowledge and skills they will need as they mature. From September 2020 this will be taught in all year groups.

Aims and Objectives

We aim to:

- inform the children of scientific and biological facts at the appropriate stage
- foster self-esteem, confidence and positive body image
- enable them to explore and ask questions about themselves and others
- encourage positive relationships with those around them
- ensure children have the knowledge and skills to keep themselves safe now and in the future

Context

RSE is taught across the school from Reception through to Year 6 and is embedded in the school curriculum across both key stages, therefore eliminating any taboos or misinformation. Most of the topics are covered within Science or PSHE lessons and only occasionally are there stand-alone sessions where children may watch DVD support materials (the school currently uses Yasmine and Tom materials that are available on the Family Planning Association website and also refers to Education 4 Safeguarding materials). These have been selected on the basis of their being a more culturally sensitive version, appropriate for our school community. All parents are given the opportunity to view these resources prior to screening. The youngest children in the school begin by learning about family and friends, with the emphasis very much on relationships with those around us. As they progress through the school they will cover differences between boys and girls, animal reproduction, changes, puberty and body image and finally human reproduction.

Roles and responsibilities

Parents

We know that parents/ carers will decide how they want to address these discussions at home and understand that this is not always easy. Parents can withdraw their child from sex education. This must be communicated with the school.

Teachers

Most often, RSE will be delivered by class teachers during PSHE and Science lessons. Occasionally (in year 5 and 6) classes are split on a gender basis to be taught by a member of staff of the same gender (where possible) to discuss the more personal aspects of puberty and relationships, including those of a sexual nature. Teachers make themselves available to answer appropriate questions as and when required. Questions that are deemed inappropriate for the age group will be referred to parents/carers.

Head Teacher and Governors

It is the responsibility of the Head Teacher to ensure that both staff and parents are informed about this RSE policy, and that the policy is implemented effectively.

The Head Teacher works in partnership with the Governors to monitor and review all policies on a regular basis.

Confidentiality

Teachers conduct RSE lessons in a sensitive, age appropriate manner and in confidence. The children are expected to respect this confidence and can therefore contribute freely to discussions. However, if a child makes reference to any behaviour that may suggest cause for concern, the teacher will take the disclosure seriously and deal with it as a matter of child protection. This will be referred to the Designated Safeguarding Lead within school and dealt with in consultation with health care professionals (see Child Protection Policy).
